New Partnership

The North-South Institute

The North-South Institute is a charitable, not-for-profit corporation established in 1976 to provide professional, policy-relevant research on relations between industrialized and developing countries. The results of this research are made available to policy-makers, interested groups, and the general public to help generate greater understanding and informed discussion of development questions. The Institute is independent and cooperates with a wide range of Canadian and international organizations working in related activities. The North-South Institute receives a grant from the Canadian International Development Agency.

The contents of this document represent the views and the findings of the authors alone and not necessarily those of The North-South Institute's directors, sponsors or supporters or those consulted during its preparation.
